

Regional Meteorological Centre, Delhi

Structure:

Regional Meteorological Centre, New Delhi has its Meteorological office at Safdarjung Airport for Non-Aviation and Meteorological Office at IGI Airport for Aviation purposes to cater the meteorological requirements of the following states through different meteorological centres in the region:

Region	Meteorological Centre
Haryana & Punjab	Meteorological Centre, Chandigarh
Himachal Pradesh	Meteorological Centre, Shimla
Jammu and Kashmir	Meteorological Centre, Srinagar
Rajasthan	Meteorological Centre, Jaipur
Uttar Pradesh	Meteorological Centre, Lucknow
Uttarakhand	Meteorological Centre, Dehradun

Activities:

- a) Aviation forecasting.
- b) Flood forecasting.
- c) Agromet Advisory.
- d) Rainfall monitoring on daily, weekly, monthly, seasonal and annual basis.
- e) Weather forecasting services to general public, Government agencies and other users for research and planning purposes.
- f) Implementation of District-wise Rainfall Monitoring Scheme (DRMS) of all states under the region and providing necessary inputs to user agencies.
- g) Earthquake Monitoring.